

United Springs

Environmental Policy

United Springs Limited is part of the Precision Springs Division of Allevard Rejna Auto Suspensions. We are committed to a programme of growth, investment in people and the latest technology, thus ensuring that we maintain our position as a market leader in the design, manufacture and supply of critical components to the highest quality standards, whilst working to minimise our environmental risks and impacts.

As a company we are committed to:

- Meeting our legal obligations with regard to environmental legislation and where possible, exceed the requirements of ISO 14001:2004, our Customers and others who have a vested interest in our business.
- Striving to continually improve our performance by reducing the impacts our manufacturing processes have on the environment and responding to any environmental risk that may arise in order to prevent pollution or at least minimise its adverse effect on the environment.
- Adopting industry best practice with regard to minimising environmental impact within our manufacturing operations.
- Updating this policy to represent our operations and our environmental management system.
- Setting objectives and targets that reflect the performance of the Environmental management system.
- Communicating our environmental performance to all employees, our customers and others who have a vested interest in our business.

Our aims are:

- To continue to reduce the consumption of energy, particularly electricity within all areas of the company through the energy management programme.
- To reduce the quantity of waste produced, and further increase the percentage of waste recycled through effective use of the waste management programme.
